FACTS

210. Beginning in December of 2007 or January of 2008, Defendant States will begin conducting primary or caucus elections for each major party, including the Republican Party and the Democrat Party.
211. On “Primary Day,” in each State, each registered voter will have the opportunity to cast a vote for a person, from a list of candidates, as that voter’s choice to represent the voter’s Party during the general election in November for the position of President of the United States of America.
212. If, at the end of each Primary Day, more votes are published for candidate A than candidate B, candidate A receives a significant and substantial amount of national attention, making it more difficult for candidate B to continue raising the money necessary to meet the costs of funding a national campaign and getting his or her message out to the general public.

213. In addition, a State's Delegates to the Party's national convention are pledged to the candidate who records the most votes in the Party's State Primary, or in some states the state's delegates to the Party's national convention are pledged to the candidate who receives the most votes in each congressional districts, or some similar setup, according to each state's laws.
214. It is critical, therefore, that all votes are accurately counted and no votes be 'stolen' from any candidate in each State primary or transferred en masse by accident in the case of an honest machine programming error.
215. Each Plaintiff will be affected by the vote count for his or her candidate of choice in each State primary.
216. In November of 2008, Defendant States will participate in the nation-wide general election during which registered voters will have the opportunity to cast their vote from among the Party favorites for President of the United States of America.
217. During the primary and general elections, the voting process in each of the Defendant States will not be open, verifiable or transparent with the exception of 45% of the jurisdictions in New Hampshire, and perhaps a few very small districts in a few of the other states.
218. During the primary and general elections, Defendant States will use machines and/or computers for vote casting and counting in most if not all of their counties.

219. Therefore, during the primary and general elections, the ballots will not remain in public view or in the public custody until the votes are counted and publicly posted at each and every voting station in each and every State.
220. During the primary and general elections, the votes will not be hand counted at each and every voting station in each and every State.
221. During the primary and general elections, the number of votes cast for each candidate at each and every voting station in each and every State will not be kept in the custody and sight of the people and will not be publicly announced at each voting station before the total number of votes cast in that State for each candidate has been tabulated, totaled and publicly announced from some centralized counting room.
222. During the primary and general elections, the number of votes counted for each candidate at each and every voting station will not be publicly announced at each and every voting station before the ballots are removed from each and every polling place.
223. For instance, at many of Defendants' vote stations the voters will receive a paper ballot. They will pencil in or hand mark an oval next to the candidate of their choice. They will enter the paper ballot into a machine that will scan the entire ballot and record the vote. After scanning each ballot the machine will deposit the ballot into a "black box" out of public view at the end of the voting period, the ballots will NOT be removed from their machines or counted. Instead, a button on the machine will be pressed, either in the polling place or after the machine has been removed to a central counting place in the county. In response, the machine will eject a slip of paper showing the number of votes purportedly recorded by a computer in that machine for each candidate. The numbers will ultimately be communicated to government officials or their designated agents in a centralized “tabulation” room. The door to the tabulation room will then often be completely closed to the public. When the door to the tabulation room is not completely closed to the public, then some of the public are allowed to watch the computers from a distance, without being able to observe anything about what the software programs in the computers are doing in the processing of the votes. Then at intervals or at the end of the process, the purported results will then be publicly announced.

224. There have been a number of comprehensive, university level studies in the last several years regarding the accuracy, reliability, security and accessibility of the “high-tech” machines and computers that Defendant States now have been positioned, or are on their way to positioning in their municipalities for use in the 2008 primary and general elections.

225. Each study has concluded that the machines, computers, and software studied should not be used for elections.

226. Some of these studies are as follows:

2007 The study by the University of California, done for the State of California, under a contract authorized by the Secretary of State of California, Debra Bowen. The results of the study caused Secretary of State Bowen to decertify the four major companies providing computers, machine, and software to the State of California. See http://www.sos.ca.gov/elections/elections_vsr.htm

2006 The study by Princeton University’s Center for Information Technology Policy and Department of Computer Science, entitled, “Security Analysis of the Diebold Accuvote-TS Voting Machine.” This full paper can be seen here: <http://itpolicy.princeton.edu/voting/ts-paper.pdf>

PLAINTIFFS' FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION:

FAILURE TO PROVIDE THE VOTERS WITH A VERIFIABLE
“CHAIN OF CUSTODY” AND THE MANUAL ALLOCATION
AND COUNTING OF ALL BALLOTS IN FULL PUBLIC VIEW, AT EACH VOTING STATION, BEFORE THOSE BALLOTS ARE EVER REMOVED FROM PUBLIC VIEW VIOLATES THE VOTING RIGHTS OF PLAINTIFFS

228. Failure to provide the People with a continuous public viewing – a People’s “Chain of Custody”— of all ballots as contained in the ballot box or boxes during the voting period, and a manual allocation and count of all ballots in full public view promptly as the voting period ends, at each voting station, before those ballots are ever removed from public view violates the voting rights of Plaintiffs.

229. The federal Constitution assigns to the states the initial responsibility for setting the rules and governing elections. The power given to the states in the federal Constitution to regulate elections is necessary as a way to insure orderly operation of the voting (democratic) process. State regulations of elections has been derived (Burdick v Takushi, 112 S. Ct. at 2603) from Article I, Section 4, cl. 1 of the federal Constitution which reads:

“The Times, Places and Manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof.”

Article I, Section 4, cl. 1
Federal Constitution

230. State regulation of elections has also been derived (Storer v Brown, 415 U.S. at 729-30, 1974), from Article I, Section 2, cl. 1 of the Federal Constitution, which reads:

“The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the People of the several states, and the Electors in each state shall have qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.”

Article I, Section 2, cl. 1,
Federal Constitution

231. The State has a compelling interest in protecting the integrity of the political process. Storer v. Brown, 415 U.S. 724, 732 (1974).
232. States have a compelling interest, not just a legitimate interest, in structuring elections in a way that avoids confusion, deception and even frustration of the democratic process. Larouche v. Kezer, 990 F.2d at 442 (2d Cir. 1993).
233. To prevail on the constitutional transgressions alleged in this complaint, Plaintiffs know that they need show beyond a reasonable doubt that the administration, by the State and County Boards of Elections will severely burden or prevent the exercise of a substantial constitutional voting right.
234. “No right is more precious in a free country than that of having a voice in the election of those who make the laws under which, as good citizens, we must live.” Burdick v. Takushi, 112 S. Ct. 2059, 2067 (1992).
235. The Supreme Court has derived a number of constitutional voting rights from the First and Fourteenth Amendments, including: the right to associate for the advancement of political purposes, NAACP v Alabama, 357 U.S. 449, 460 (1958); the right to cast an effective vote, Williams v Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 30 (1968); and the right to create and develop new political parties, Norman v. Reed, 112 S. Ct. 698, 705 (1992).
236. The Supreme Court has clarified “the right to vote” to mean “the right to participate in an electoral process that is necessarily structured [by state regulations] to maintain the integrity of the democratic system.” Burdick v. Takushi, 112 S. Ct. at 2063.
237. Notwithstanding this recognition by the Supreme Court of the need for state regulations to protect the democratic (voting) process, the Supreme Court has held that a state cannot violate a right encompassed within the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 29 (1968).

238. "Undeniably the Constitution of the United States protects the right of all qualified citizens to vote, in state as well as in federal elections. A consistent line of decisions by this Court in cases involving attempts to deny or restrict the right of suffrage has made this indelibly clear. It has been repeatedly recognized that all qualified voters have a constitutionally protected right to vote, Ex parte Yarbrough, 110 U.S. 651, and to have their votes counted, United States v. Mosley, 238 U.S. 383. In Mosley the Court stated that it is 'as equally unquestionable that the right to have one's vote counted is as open to protection . . . as the right to put a ballot in a box.' 238 U.S. at 386. The right to vote can neither be denied outright, Guinn v. United States, 238 U.S. 347, Lane v. Wilson, 307 U.S. 268, nor destroyed by alteration of ballots, see United States v. Classic, 313 U.S. 299, 315, nor diluted by ballot-box stuffing, Ex parte Siebold, 100 U.S. 371, United States v. Saylor, 322 U.S. 385. As the Court stated in Classic, 'Obviously included within the right to choose, secured by the Constitution, is the right of qualified voters within a state to cast their ballots and have them counted . . .' (313 U.S. at 315)." Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U.S. 533, 555 (1964).

239. "And history has seen a continuing expansion of the scope of the right of suffrage in this country. The right to vote freely for the candidate of one's choice is of the essence of a democratic society, and any restrictions on that right strike at the heart of representative government. And the right of suffrage can be denied by a debasement or dilution of the weight of a citizen's vote just as effectively as by wholly prohibiting the free exercise of the franchise." 377 U.S. 533, 556.

240. “Almost a century ago, in Yick Wo v. Hopkins, 118 U.S. 356, the Court referred to “the political franchise of voting’ as ‘a fundamental political right, because it is preservative of all rights.’ 118 U.S., at 370.” 377 U.S. 533, 562.
241. "We regard it as equally unquestionable that the right to have one's vote counted is as open to protection by Congress as the right to put a ballot in a box." U. S. v. Mosley, 238 U.S. 383, 386 (1915).
242. In the KU KLUX CASES, 110 U.S. 651 (1884), the Supreme Court said: "It is as essential to the successful working of this government that the great organisms of its executive and legislative branches should be the free choice of the people, as that the original form of it should be so. In absolute governments, where the monarch is the source of all power, it is still held to be important that the exercise of that power shall be free from the influence of extraneous violence and internal corruption. In a republican government, like ours, where political power is reposed in representatives of the entire body of the people, chosen at short intervals by popular elections, the temptations to control these elections by violence and by corruption is a constant source of danger. Such has been the history of all republics, and, though ours [110 U.S. 651, 667] has been comparatively free from both these evils in the past, no lover of his country can shut his eyes to the fear of future danger from both sources." (Plaintiffs’ emphasis).
243. In United States v. Saylor, 322 U.S. 385 (1944), the Supreme Court said, "In United States v. Mosley, 238 U.S. 383, 35 S.Ct. 904, 905, this court reversed a judgment sustaining a demurrer to an indictment which charged a conspiracy of election officers to render false returns by disregarding certain precinct returns and thus falsifying the count of the vote cast. After stating that 19 is constitutional and validly extends 'some protection, at least, to the right to vote for Members of Congress,' the court added: 'We regard it as equally unquestionable that the right to have one's vote counted is as open to protection by Congress as the right to put a ballot in a box.' The court then traced the history of 19 from its origin as one section of the Enforcement Act of May 31, 1870,³ which contained other sections more specifically aimed at election frauds, and the survival of 19 as a statute of the United States notwithstanding the repeal of those other sections. The conclusion was that 19 protected personal rights of a citizen including the right to cast his ballot, and held that to re- [322 U.S. 385, 388] fuse to count and return the vote as cast was as much an infringement of that personal right as to exclude the voter from the polling place. The case affirms that the elector's right intended to be protected is not only that to cast his ballot but that to have it honestly counted." (Plaintiffs' emphasis).

244. In U. S. v. Classic, 313 U.S. 299 (1941), the Supreme Court said,

"Pursuant to the authority given by 2 of Article I of the Constitution, and subject to the legislative power of Congress under 4 of Article I, and other pertinent provisions of the Constitution, the states are given, and in fact exercise a wide discretion in the formulation of a system for the choice by the people of representatives in Congress. In common with many other states Louisiana has exercised that discretion by setting up machinery for the effective choice of party candidates for representative in Congress by primary elections and by its laws it eliminates or seriously restricts the candidacy at the general election of all those who are defeated at the primary. All political parties, which are defined as those that have cast at least 5 per cent of the total vote at specified preceding elections, are required to nominate their candidates for representative by direct primary elections. Louisiana Act No. 46, Regular Session, 1940, 1 and 3.

"The primary is conducted by the state at public expense. Act No. 46, supra, 35. The primary, as is the general election, is subject to numerous statutory regulations as to the time, place and manner of conducting the election, including provisions to insure that the ballots cast at the primary are correctly counted, and the results of the count correctly recorded and certified to the Secretary of State, whose duty it is to place the names of the successful candidates of each party on the official [313 U.S. 299, 312] ballot. The Secretary of State is prohibited from placing on the official ballot the name of any person as a candidate for any political party not nominated in accordance with the provisions of the Act. Act 46, 1...

“The right to vote for a representative in Congress at the general election is, as a matter of law, thus restricted to the successful party candidate at the primary, to those not candidates at the primary who file nomination papers, and those whose names may be lawfully written into the ballot by the electors. Even if, as appellees argue, contrary to the decision in Serpas v. Trebuca, supra, voters may lawfully write into their ballots, cast at the general election, the name of a candidate rejected at the primary and have their ballots counted, the practical operation of the primary law in otherwise excluding from the ballot on the general election the names of candidates rejected at the primary is such as to impose serious restrictions upon the choice of candidates by the voters save by voting at the primary election. In fact, as alleged in the indictment, the practical operation of the primary in Louisiana, is and has been since the primary election was established in 1900 to secure the election of the Democratic primary [313 U.S. 299, 314] nominee for the Second Congressional District of Louisiana.

“Interference with the right to vote in the Congressional primary in the Second Congressional District for the choice of Democratic candidate for Congress is thus as a matter of law and in fact an interference with the effective choice of the voters at the only stage of the election procedure when their choice is of significance, since it is at the only stage when such interference could have any practical effect on the ultimate result, the choice of the Congressman to represent the district. The primary in Louisiana is an integral part of the procedure for the popular choice of Congressman. The right of qualified voters to vote at the Congressional primary in Louisiana and to have their ballots counted is thus the right to participate in that choice. ...

“Obviously included within the right to choose, secured by the Constitution, is the right of qualified voters within a state to cast their ballots and have them counted at Congressional elections. This Court has consistently held that this is a right secured by the Constitution. Ex parte Yarbrough, supra; Wiley v. Sinkler, supra; Swafford v. Templeton, supra; United States v. Mosley, supra; see Ex parte Siebold, supra; In re Coy, 127 U.S. 731, 8 S.Ct. 1263; Logan v. United States, 144 U.S. 263, 12 S.Ct. 617. And since the constitutional command is without restriction or limitation, the right unlike those guaranteed by the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, is secured against the action of individuals as well as of states. Ex parte Yarbrough, supra; Logan v. United States, supra. ...

“...Moreover, we cannot close our eyes to the fact already mentioned that the practical influence of the choice of candidates at the primary may be so great as to affect profoundly the choice at the general election even though there is no effective legal prohibition upon the rejection at the election of the choice made at the primary and may thus operate to deprive the voter of his constitutional right of choice. This was noted and extensively commented upon by the concurring Justices in Newberry v. United States, supra, 256 U.S. 263 -269, 285, 287, 41 S.Ct. 476-478, 484.

“Unless the constitutional protection of the integrity of 'elections' extends to primary elections, Congress is left powerless to effect the constitutional purpose, and the popular choice of representatives is stripped of its constitutional protection save only as Congress, by taking over the control of state elections, may exclude from them the influence of the state primaries. 3 Such an expedient would end that state autonomy with respect to elections which the Constitution contemplated that Congress should be free to leave undisturbed, subject only to such minimum regulation as it should find necessary to insure the freedom [313 U.S. 299, 320] and integrity of the choice. Words, especially those of a constitution, are not to be read with such stultifying narrowness. The words of 2 and 4 of Article I, read in the sense which is plainly permissible and in the light of the constitutional purpose, require us to hold that a primary election which involves a necessary step in the choice of candidates for election as representatives in Congress, and which in the circumstances of this case controls that choice, is an election within the meaning of the constitutional provision and is subject to congressional regulation as to the manner of holding it. ...

“Conspiracy to prevent the official count of a citizen's ballot, held in United States v. Mosley, supra, to be a violation of 19 in the case of a congressional election, is equally a conspiracy to injure and oppress the citizen when the ballots are cast in a primary election prerequisite to the choice of party candidates for a congressional election. In both cases the right infringed is one secured by the Constitution. The injury suffered by the citizen in the exercise of the right is an injury which the statute describes and to which it applies in the one case as in the other...”The right of the voters at the primary to have their votes counted is, as we have stated, a right or privilege secured by the Constitution...” (Plaintiffs’ emphasis).

245. The federal Constitution condemns state restrictions such as those to be implemented by Defendant States “that, without justification [no compelling state interest], significantly encroach upon the rights to vote [and have the vote counted] and to associate for political purposes.” Unity Party v. Wallace, 707 F. 2d 59, 62 (2d Cir. 1983), or that enhance rather than prevent voter confusion, deception, frustration and fraud. Storer v. Brown, 415 U.S. 724, 732 (1974).
246. Voting procedures that are not open, verifiable, transparent and machine and computer free, with paper ballots that are hand marked and hand counted, abridge the right to cast an effective vote. Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 30 (1968).
247. Defendants’ voting procedures impose an impermissible burden upon fundamental rights under the First and Fourteenth Amendments. Burdick v. Takusi, 112 S. Ct. at 2063.

248. Defendants' voting procedures violate a right encompassed within the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 29 (1968).
249. Defendants' voting procedures heavily burden the right to vote; due to the inevitability of machine error (intentional and unintentional) and human fraud, they will result in votes being cast only for party favorites at a time when party insurgents are clamoring for a place on the ballot. Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 41 (1968).
250. Due to the enhanced probability and inevitability of machine error and human fraud, Defendants' voting procedures will deprive one or more party insurgents of the right to have his or her voice heard and his or her views considered. Williams v. Rhodes, 393 U.S. 23, 41 (1968).
251. Due to the enhanced probability and inevitability of machine error and human fraud during the primaries, Defendants' voting procedures will restrict real as opposed to theoretical votes, ballot access and voter choice in the general election. American Party v. White, 415 U.S. 767, 783 (1974).

PLAINTIFFS' SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION:

FAILURE TO PROVIDE THE VOTERS WITH A VERIFIABLE "CHAIN OF CUSTODY" AND THE MANUAL ALLOCATION AND COUNTING OF ALL BALLOTS IN FULL PUBLIC VIEW, AT EACH VOTING STATION, BEFORE THOSE BALLOTS ARE EVER REMOVED FROM PUBLIC VIEW VIOLATES THE CONTRACT RIGHTS OF PLAINTIFFS

252. Formally registering with the State to vote, as well as to register as a member of a political party, is a contract. On the one hand the registrant agrees to be listed as a voter and a member of that party with eligibility to vote in that political party's primary election. On the other hand the State and the political party agree that the votes will be counted accurately.
253. Offer and Acceptance. A contract is based upon an agreement. An agreement arises when one person, the offeror, makes an offer and the person to whom the offer is made, the offeree, accepts. An offer may be made to a particular person or it may be made to the public at large.
254. Agreement. In law, a concord of understanding and intention between two or more parties with respect to the effect upon their relative rights and duties, of certain past or future facts or performances.
255. Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution reads as follows:

Section 10 - Powers prohibited of States

No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts, or grant any Title of Nobility.

256. All contracts must contain mutual assent. Anderson, 540 N.W.2d at 285. This assent is usually given through an offer and acceptance. An offer is a "manifestation of willingness to enter into a bargain, so made as to justify another person in understanding that his assent to that bargain is invited and will conclude it." Id. (quoting Restatement (Second) of Contracts § 24). An offer also must be certain as to its terms and requirements. See Audus v. Sabre Communications Corp., 554 N.W.2d 868, 871 (Iowa 1996); 17A Am. Jur.2d Contracts § 192, at 202.
257. The execution of a Voter Registration Card is the execution of the contract between Defendants and those participating as voters.
258. 265. The Voter Registration contract contains not only the Right to cast a vote, but the corollary Right to have the votes counted accurately.
259. 266. Plaintiff registered voters in no way, would willfully consent to this contract if they even suspected the votes could be compromised or the vote counting process was ripe for fraud or machine failure -- or even sabotage.
260. Where the public cannot even access the evidence, i.e., the ballots, the public cannot visually examine the evidence, i.e., the ballots, and therefore the People cannot determine what the evidence, i.e., the ballots says. On election day in jurisdictions with every state, often in all the jurisdictions within a given state, the voters are prevented from accessing the ballots for the purpose of counting from the time the voting period ends until the alleged results are publicly announced, and usually the voters are prevented from accessing the ballots for weeks thereafter. Such a system leaves the voters in a position of having to accept the announced results on blind faith on election night. Indeed, when the People are allowed to visually examine some of the ballots at a later date, there is no reasonable assurance that some or all of the ballots haven't been altered or switched. Indeed, lacking the integrity of an open, verifiable, transparent, machine and computer free election with hand counting of all votes and a "People's chain of custody," Defendants' voting procedures have the appearance of a rigged gambling table or game show where the "house" determines who wins. Unfortunately for the Plaintiffs, and the balance of America, the outcome of the upcoming series of primary elections poses a very real threat affecting the choices of the American voters in 2008 and potentially altering the future of the nation itself.

261. That Defendant States have lent their imprimatur and assistance to this contract fraud is indefensible and unconstitutional.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

IF THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES EVERYTHING POSSIBLE BE DONE TO ASSURE ALL VOTES ARE EFFECTIVE, THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES UTILIZATION OF ANY AVAILABLE VOTING PROCEDURE THAT IS OPEN, VERIFIABLE AND TRANSPARENT, I.E., NO MACHINE OR COMPUTERIZED VOTE COUNTING

262. The following ten step voting procedure is practical and available for adoption by all Defendant States; a comparable system is now used in 45% the jurisdictions in the state of New Hampshire. If the Constitution requires everything possible to done to assure all votes are counted and effective, and there is no compelling state interest that would argue against the adoption of the following voting procedure, the procedure must be adopted and followed by each Defendant during the 2008 primary and general elections.

1. All votes are to be marked by hand on paper ballots.
2. From the time the voter votes to the time the results of the vote are publicly announced, all paper ballots or the ballot box they are deposited in by the voters shall never be out of the view of the public.
3. Each completed paper ballot is to be deposited into a numbered, transparent container (ballot box) that is in clear public view throughout the voting period. The numbers are to be at least 4 inches high, black on white. Each polling place must have a sufficient number of ballots to be cast at that polling station.
4. Each candidate on the ballot shall have the Right to have a representative present for an inspection of each container ten minutes before the voting period begins.
5. A rope shall surround each vote station at a distance of 6-10 feet from the numbered transparent container, beyond which any person can quietly stand to quietly observe and record by video recording device the transparent containers and the number of voters.
6. As the voting period ends, each ballot box is to be set on one of several 6-8 foot long cafeteria-style tables that have been set up at each of the voting stations. There, each ballot box should be opened, emptied onto the table, and hand counted and tallied.
9. Any and all official state or local election ballot counters may be observed by representatives of any candidate or party on the ballot, as well as the general public, from a distance of at least 6 feet from the counting tables. Any potential inaccuracies may be noted by the candidate representatives. Recounts of any particular numbered ballot box or polling station may be requested by any candidate on the ballot for a reasonable fee commensurate with the actual cost of such a recount and according to state law. The tally from each ballot box shall then be announced publicly. The ballots (along with a copy of the tally sheet for that box signed by each of the counters, under penalty of perjury,) shall then be placed back in their original container, sealed according to state law, and transported to the place of safekeeping designated by state law. A copy of each tally sheet for every box at each polling place shall be kept in the possession of the designated local election official or Town/City/County Clerk under whose auspices the election was operated. The tally of each box and polling station shall then be publicly announced and copies posted at the polling station. If after three counts of the ballots, all counters do not agree, then the written objection of those disagreeing must be noted and included with the ballots. All the vote tallies for each candidate at each precinct will be publicly posted before the ballots leave the local polling place, -- on the wall for public inspection. The final tally sheet shall remain publicly posted for 72 hours after the count at each polling place is completed. A copy of this tally sheet will also be kept by the top election official of each polling place, and also at the local county Board of Election. Thus, candidate representatives, the press, and citizens would be afforded the opportunity to view and manually record the results at each polling place.

10. The certified vote totals are to be immediately communicated from each numbered container (ballot box) and the totals of each polling station (if more than one ballot box is used) to a central tabulation center where the totals from each vote station are to be publicly announced and tabulated as they are received. The central location shall be open to the public during the entire process.
11. As each certified vote total arrives at the central tabulation center, the identification number of the voting station, the ballot container number and the results of the hand-counted vote will be read aloud by the State and manually entered into a paper spreadsheet by one person, then entered into a computer spreadsheet by another person for live video projection onto public viewing screens within the room. Both manual and computer spreadsheets will consist of one (1) column for each candidate or item, one (1) row for each voting station, and the signatures and addresses of the persons making entries. The manual spreadsheet rows and columns shall be totaled manually. The computer spreadsheet will contain automated total fields for each row and column that will update automatically as vote data is entered. Immediately after the entry of computer data from each voting station, a separate, individually and sequentially named copy of the master spreadsheet file will be saved to the computer's hard drive and to a separate CD-ROM disc. Additionally, a hard-copy of the computer spreadsheet will be printed out following the entry of each vote station's data, compared to the manual spreadsheet and both the manual and computer generated spreadsheets shall be signed by a State Auditor with the time/date noted after all discrepancies, if any, are lawfully recorded and resolved. Both the manual and computer spreadsheets will be preserved as part of the official election record.
12. After the results of the vote from each of the vote stations are received, entered and read aloud, and the cumulative (grand) totals from the hand-counts are agreed to by the State election officials as well as party and/or candidate representatives, the final totals will then be immediately certified by the State, publicly read aloud and pronounced as the final election result. Copies of the final vote spreadsheet in both manual and electronic format and hard copy will then be made immediately available to Candidate representatives and those interested members of the public and/or media within the room. The manual and computer spreadsheets shall be published by the State in the newspaper with the most numerous subscription at the State capitol. Following the election, the ballots, certifications, totals and manual and computer spreadsheet will be turned over to the custody of the State for secure storage, pursuant to State law for General Elections. The State will make copies of the vote certifications and spreadsheet(s) available to the public for a nominal copying fee. The State will post the manual and computer generated vote spreadsheets and appropriate certifications of the totals on its websites as soon as is practicable.

CONCLUSION

263. Only a manual count of the ballots that have not been out of public view so conducted in each polling place, with the results posted publicly before the ballots leave the Peoples' custody or the public view in each precinct, will prevent the centralized rigging of elections. Such a system, with numerous individual voters and state-designated representatives (counters) signing on to, and/or agreeing with the results, provides 100% assurance, as far as is humanly possible, that all voters have cast an effective vote – that is, that all votes have been properly and legally counted. The vote is the cornerstone of our democratic, constitutional republic. If every person should vote and one vote can make a difference, then any system that heightens the possibility of error and fraud must be avoided. The Constitution demands it.
264. Only paper ballots, hand-marked and hand-counted in public view can provide the 100% assurance as far as is humanly possible that the votes will be accurately counted. Likewise, only paper ballots, hand-marked and hand-counted in public view at each local polling place, can make the centralized rigging of elections impossible, whether such centralized rigging of elections is contemplated by anyone on either a county, state or national level.
265. Defendants' intended voting procedures will place a severe burden upon or deny the Fundamental Rights of the Plaintiffs by conducting what is in scale, form, substance and practical effect, a sham Election without any of the procedural controls or legal safeguards that are otherwise mandated by the Constitution and state law.

266. Beyond the discredited voting equipment that Defendants intend to use for the primary and general elections, the Defendants' voting procedures are so deficient and inviting of fraud and corruption as to be unconscionable.
267. A constitutionally compliant voting procedure is available.
268. WHEREFORE, based on the above, plaintiffs respectfully request a final order:
- a) Permanently enjoining Defendants from conducting any caucus, primary, special, general or any other election in the 2008 election cycle and beyond in a manner which is not open, verifiable, transparent, machine-free, and computer-free, and
 - b) Permanently enjoining Defendants from conducting any caucus, primary, special, general or any other election in the 2008 election cycle and beyond that does not rely exclusively on paper ballots, hand marked and hand counted, and
 - c) Permanently enjoining Defendants from conducting any caucus, primary, special, general or any other election in the 2008 election cycle and beyond, during which said paper ballots do not remain in full public view until the results of the hand counting is publicly announced at that vote station, and
 - d) For such other and further relief as to the Court may seem just and proper.
